

Randy Fortenbery

Professor, Thomas B. Mick Endowed Chair

- Vita
- Impact Center

EDUCATION

- Ph.D., Agricultural Economics, University of Illinois–Urbana/Champaign, 1988.
- M.S., Applied Economics, Montana State University, 1984.
- B.S., Natural Resource Economics, Montana State University, 1982.

RESEARCH FIELDS

- My research program currently focuses on agricultural price performance in local and national markets. It looks at impacts of new information on relative prices, as well as overall price levels. I also am engaged in studying the impact of futures price action on the stability of cash prices.

PUBLICATIONS

- Tatiana Drugova, Veronica Pozo, Kynda Curtis, T. Randall Fortenbery. "Organic Wheat Prices and Premium Uncertainty: Can Cross Hedging and Forecasting Play a Role?" Journal of Agricultural and Resource Economics – forthcoming.
- Jiang, Jingze and T. Randall Fortenbery. "El Nino and La Nina Induced Volatility Spillover Effects in U.S. Soybean and Water Equity Markets," Applied Economics, 51 (2019), p. 1133–1150. Published online October 2018.
- Fortenbery, T. Randall. "Futures Markets and Hedging," Routledge Press Handbook of Agricultural Economics, ed. Gail L. Cramer, Krishna P. Paudel, and Andrew Schmitz, 2018.
- Fortenbery, T. Randall. "Futures Market Activity and Impacts on Cash Markets," Commodity Insights Yearbook 2017, ed. MCX, Securities and Exchange Board of India (2017), p. 13–21.
- Prera, Alejandro, T. Randall Fortenbery, and Thomas L. Marsh. "Risk Management: Potential for U.S. Microbreweries," Journal of Agribusiness, 35(2) (2017). P. 145–162

AWARDS AND DISTINCTIONS

- Small Grains Endowed Chair, 2011–present
- Renk Chair in Agribusiness, University of Wisconsin–Madison, Aug 2002
- John S. Donald Excellence in Teaching Award, University of Wisconsin–Madison, Feb 1996

CONTACT INFO

E-mail address:
r.fortenbery@wsu.edu
Office Location:
Hulbert 203G
Office Phone:
(509) 335-7637